Nevada News in Briefest Shape

At a meeting of the Nevada Bar association, held in Reno Monday, an eloquent memorial to the late Senator W. A. Massey was adopted. The old Rye Patch mine in Humboldt county, which has a production record of many millions of dollars, was sold last week by the sheriff. The property consists of two patented claims.

H. Brown, a well dressed stranger and liberally provided with money, committed suicide Tuesday in a hotel at Battle Mountain by shooting himself in the mouth.

No less than fifty "whisky to Indian" cases will be presented before the federal grand jury, which meets at Carson City January 18. There will be a similar number of other cases against the federal laws.

The 1914 apple crop of Nevada is estimated at 150,000 bushels.

A 25-horsepower hoist and galleys frame have been installed on the Nevada Progressive Mining company's property in Smith valley. The company is developing a four-foot ledge, upon which it will sink another 100 feet.

ARGUES AGAINST SUNDAY BLUE LAW

CORRESPONDENT OPPOSED TO STATE UNITING WITH CHURCH

Editor of Bonanza:

Sir:—Nevada is to be the object of a drastic Sunday law campaign for the next few weeks. If successful, it will place Nevada in the rank of "blue law" states. Dr. G. L. Tufts, representing a Sunday rest organization, is directing the effort in favor of the law. Literature is being sent out from headquarters at Reno and petitions are being circulated to be presented at the next session of the legislature. As outlined by Dr. Tufts, the proposed law is practically a copy of the "one day's rest in seven bill" defeated in California at the last election. That the law is a religious law is evident, for "the bill exempts from Sunday closing all necessary business and continuous industries," exempts those who observe another day as "a day of rest." It would compel the observance of Sunday by all others. It is said that if the Sunday observance were left out of it that there would be nothing left in it.

Advocates of the law claim that it is in the interests of the working men and women. Labor leaders are finding it hard to decide how the law will be of benefit to labor, as there would be almost as much Sunday labor under its many exemptions as is performed at the present time.

Some of these exemptions have aroused considerable conjecture. For example: Lunch counters, hotels and restaurants could continue business on Sunday, but a baker would be liable under the law for selling a loaf of bread. A paper published seven days a week could be sold on Sunday, but a paper published less than seven days a week would be denied the privilege. This would be an inducement to publish a Sunday paper, thus placing a premium on the evasion of the law. Manufacturing butter and cheese could proceed on Sunday, but it would be a crime to sell a pound of either.

This law would also close grocery, dry goods and other mercantile stores, saloons, barber and butcher shops, workshops, mills, mines and factories. Opposition to any such legislation is developing and an interesting time at the next session of the legislature is anticipated. Opponents of the measure say it savors of the spirit of the "dark ages." They declare also that this enlightened age has outlived the spirit of intolerance that dictated in matters of conscience. They point to the fact that Nevada's constitution now guarantees to all the right to worship, or not to worship, as the conscience may direct, and that all are assured the equal protection of the state in their religious views and worship, as long as they do not interfere with the equal rights of others.

NEGLECTED PORTION TONOPAH DISTRICT

REGION BEYOND BROUGHER MAY SHOW ACTIVITIES THIS SEASON

In a southerly direction from Tonopah, on the opposite slope of Mt. Brougher, is a region that is sadly neglected by mine developers, if it be true that the change in formation, as stated by experts, makes reasonably certain the continuation of the silver zone in that direction, while the enrichment in the yellow metal grows stronger. It is true that this portion of the district is heavily capped with a late igneous flow, but it is also certain that the porphyry may be found there at depth and that it contains a assure of quartz, some of which is found to be mineralized.

Included in this district are such groups as the New York, Lowell and Pennsylvania, upon each of which shafts have been sunk, but work has been abandoned for years. It is understood that with the new year there will be resumption of activities in that part of the district.

NINE FT. OF ORE IN ATLANTA MINE

PROPERTY WILL PROBABLY BEGIN SHIPMENTS IN NEAR FUTURE

Nine feet of ore is exposed in the prospect raise recently started above the north drift from the branch west on the 1750-foot level of the property of the Atlanta Mines company. Three feet of the ore on the hanging wall side gave assay returns last night of $60 per ton, the remainder of the showing carrying milling grade values.

A sharp turn in the shale footwall caused the drift itself to slightly penetrate the latte hanging wall, leaving only about two feet of the vein in the face. The vein is, however, wider and the drift will be turned to follow it. Car samples of the ore, as broken down yesterday from the raise and drift face gave average values of $23 per ton. The out put of the two workings is being saved and shipments from the property will probably begin about the first of the new year.

WOMEN IGNORANT OF FATE OF HUSBANDS

NOTICES OF CASUALTIES ARE COMING IN VERY SLOWLY

(By Associated Press.) PARIS, Jan. 4.—Instances of French women who have been widows since early in the war and are still ignorant of their husbands' fate are often coming to light.

It is not only that the authorities have been slow in communicating notice of casualties, but that friends and relatives who have heard of deaths at the front have evaded the responsibility of breaking the news, hoping that identifications of the dead have been mistaken and that the missing one may turn up eventually.

A case which came to the writer's notice is probably typical of many. A young woman who was accustomed to dine with her brother, a newspaper man, at a restaurant largely patronized by men of that profession, has appeared nightly at the restaurant alone ever since her brother was called to join his regiment, and inquired if his co-workers had heard anything of him. From a wounded comrade who returned to Paris they learned that the girl's brother was killed more than two months ago, but none of the men had the heart to break the news to the sister.

There are also thousands among

CENSUS TO BE TAKEN OF BELGIAN REFUGEES

NUMBER LEAVING ENGLAND FOR AMERICA TO SEEK NEW HOMES

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, Jan. 4.—A general census of Belgian refugees in England has been ordered that King Albert's cabinet may know where the Belgians subject to military service are quartered.

It has been estimated that 20,000 Belgians of military age came to England, but such estimates are necessarily inaccurate. In the rush from Antwerp and Ostend it was impossible to keep any accurate records. Many of the refugees who had money came independent of any organized agency and consequently the governments of Belgium and England have no knowledge of their movements.

The employment of Belgians in England has raised many stubborn questions. Relief committees have not encouraged Belgians to accept employment where they would compete with English labor and there has been a studied effort on the part of English committees throughout the island to prevent Belgians from accepting a lower wage than that ordinarily paid to Englishmen or Englishwomen.

In France the refugees have almost invariably found employment, especially the men of all ages. The Frenchmen have nearly all gone into the service, with the result that Belgians who have any knowledge of railroading, bridge building, electrical construction or engineering work of any sort are instantly put to work.

Some Belgians have been leaving England for the United States, but they are chiefly older men and women who formerly lived in America and have relatives and friends there. There has been no large movement of Belgians toward America, as yet, and no objection has been raised to their departure from England where they had papers showing who they were and what their reasons were for leaving.

OIL FLOTATION MAY PROVE REVELATION

NEW PROCESS BEING MADE USE OF AT MCGILL PLANT

The new oil flotation process that is being installed at the Steptoe plant at McGill and other Jackling porphyry mills threatens to revolutionize the extraction of the low grade ores, says the White Pine News. The problems that have been worked out by the staff of metallurgists demonstrate that it is a revelation in comparison with the most modern appliances in the milling world, and is a wonderful improvement over the older methods. The minutest details have already been worked out.

A heavy extraction is obtained through the use of oil, and the cost of reduction will also be materially lessened. The mills of the Nevada Consolidated have been almost ex-

ATHLETICS PART OF WAR PREPARATION

CROSS-COUNTRY RUNNING USED TO DEVELOP ENGLISH SOLDIERS

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, Jan. 4.—In every army training camp in England cross country running is a part of the work of fitting the new soldiers for service. It has developed a number of well-known athletes, among them G. W. Hutson, now numbered among the missing, who is ranked as the greatest distance runner of the present day in England.

The private cross-country clubs, which have been very popular sport organizations in England for many years, have contributed in some cases as high as 75 per cent of their membership to the army since the beginning of the war. As a result, all of the autumn fixtures have been canceled, but their place is to be taken by district competitions between various new army units.

OBTAINS LEASE ON SPEARHEAD ESTATE

A. A. CODD AND ASSOCIATES TO OPERATE ON ROSEBUSH CLAIM

The directors of the Spearhead Gold Mining company, at a meeting Wednesday night, granted to A. A. Codd, of Reno, and associates a lease on the south 850 feet of the Rosebush claim, adjoining on the east the Sunflower claim of the Goldfield Merger Mines company, says the Goldfield Tribune. The lease runs for a period of two and a half years, with a six months' extension in the event pay ore in commercial quantities is not revealed during the first year's development work.

The deal for the lease was consummated after negotiations extending over a period of several weeks. Mr. Codd has already organized a company for the operation of the lease. It is known as the Spearhead Extension Mining company.

With W. C. Rannels, who held the position of superintendent of the famous Hayes-Monnette lease on the Mohawk in the early days of Goldfield, as general manager, the new company will inaugurate operations on the leasehold by not later than January 15, according to Mr. Codd.
